HOOVER IN SUPREME ENFORCING OF DRY PLAN

NEW LEGAL WEAPONS AND EDUCATION USED

HOOVER LATELY HAS GIVEN CONSIDERABLE ATTENTION TO PROHIBITION PROBLEM DEVOTED TIME TO STUDY NEW METHODS OF ENFORCEMENT

By THOMAS L. STOKES (United Press Staff Correspondent) (Copyright, 1929, by United Press)

Washington, Jan. 10.—Herbert Hoover, soon after his inauguration, will sponsor a supreme attempt to enforce the prohibition law a campaign in which new legal weapons as well as education will be used.

Hoover lately has given considerable attention to the prohibition problem, devoting much time to a study of possible new measures for tightening enforcement during the long voyage from Rio De Janeiro to Norfolk on the Battleship Utah.

Among the suggestions considered, it is learned, is to increase responsibility and accountability of dry administrations for major violations in their territories, such as large-scale smuggling and diversions from bonded warehouses. The general suggestion embodies the idea of criminal prosecutions for dry officers where negligence can be proved.

In addition, Hoover is expected to promote an educational campaign for prohibition, such as those he directed during the war for conservation of food and relief programs. He believes it might change the attitude toward prohibition. Hoover is convinced, personally, that the country is preponderantly dry. He believes that prohibition of alcoholic liquors is wise.

The economic phases of the problem impress him. To him, the beneficial effects he sees in prohibition of alcoholic liquors, if that can be achieved, are part and parcel of that welfare which will be the aim of his general prosperity and economic administration.

He recognizes there are grave abuses, as he has said. New legal measures and education will be directed at these.

Meanwhile, he will seek to run these abuses down, to find out just what they are and how deep-seated, through an impartial investigation. The senate judiciary committee today began consideration of a resolution providing for an independent commission to make an investigation of prohibition. Hoover will cooperate with this commission in its inquiry, and is expected to say so in his inaugural message.

This commission might recommend repeal of the 18th amendment or modification of the Volstead act.

What course Hoover would take in that case is unknown.

Characteristically, he would give it very careful thought. He will indicate no course of action until the investigation is completed, meanwhile taking steps to tighten enforcement on the theory that the majority of people of the country, despite many outcries of discontent, want prohibition.

Washington, Jan. 10.—(UP)—President-Elect Hoover again pushed forward with a program today whereby he plans to be fully informed concerning every important domestic and foreign problem before he leaves for a rest in Florida.

The president-elect wants to go to Florida with only two main problems before him—selection of his cabinet and formulation of his policies on the basis of the long series of informative conferences he is now holding in Washington.

The problem before Mr. Hoover divide themselves into two main categories, domestic and foreign.

Out of the long talks he has already had with congressional leaders and others concerning domestic questions, have developed two outstanding facts; first, and extra session of congress will be necessary to pass farm relief and tariff legislation, and second, Mr. Hoover does not intend to interfere in any way whatsoever with the legislative situation to avoid an extra session.

While he has been informing himself of the congressional situation, Mr. Hoover also has started his consultation concerning the eventual make-up of his cabinet.

Within the next few days it is expected S. Parker Gilbert, American agent general for German reparations, will confer with Mr. Hoover and lay before him the entire European situation as involved in the post-war reparations settlement.

Mr. Hoover already has a mass of

WARN THAT MORE SEVERE TYPE OF FLU MAY FOLLOW

Washington, Jan. 10.—(UP)—Health officers and scientists from 20 states gathering here today, were warned that a more severe type of influenza with a higher mortality rate may follow the present epidemic, in a paper prepared by Surgeon General Cumming of the U. S. public health service.

Cumming was stricken by the disease three days ago and was unable to attend the conference he had called to coordinate information on influenza and to establish a basis for future research.

SALVATION HIGH COUNCIL TAKES ACTION TODAY

WILL ASK GENERAL BRAMWELL BOOTH, SUPREME COMMANDER, TO RETIRE

BOOTH, HOWEVER, WILL RETAIN HIS TITLE OF GENERAL, REPORTED

BY ARCH RODGERS (United Press Staff Correspondent)

Sunbury-on-Thames, England, Jan. 10.—(UP)—The high council of the Salvation Army has decided to ask Gen. Bramwell Booth, supreme commander, to retire, it was announced officially today.

Booth will retain the title of general, the announcement said.

The outcome of the extraordinary meeting of the high council here was a victory for Commander Evangeline Booth, head of the army in the United States, who was leader of the movement to remove her brother from autocratic control of the Army because of his ill health.

The official announcement said the high council had decided that its president, vice-presidents and five members be delegated to visit Gen. Booth at Southwold, Sussex, where he is ill and suggest his retirement.

The resolution suggesting that General Booth retire was adopted unanimously by the high council, the official announcement said.

The deputation will suggest that Booth, although retiring, continue "to enjoy the honor and dignities" attached to the title of general.

The council's resolution said it was realized that "it is most unlikely, at the general's advanced age, that he ever can recover sufficiently again to take up the burdens under which he collapsed."

The official statement announced that after the usual opening services this morning, the council proceeded immediately to consider business connected with a letter from General Booth to the council.

"As a result of deliberations after reception of the letters," the council's statement continued, "the council resolved to communicate with the general and submit to him the following resolution passed by the council without a dissenting vote:

"The council places on record its high appreciation of the life labors of the general and joins with him in gratitude to God for his partial restoration to health. It expresses hope that this improvement may be maintained."

QUEEN MARIE OF ROUMANIA ILL WITH FLU

background from his tour of Latin-America, which is expected to play a big role in the foreign policy of the coming administration. Any other information he may need regarding foreign questions probably will be supplied him in a conference with Secretary of State Kellogg.

Fully informed on all domestic and world problems, Mr. Hoover intends to devote his time while in Florida—in addition to that spent for recreation—to his cabinet and the formulation of his policies.

Legislature Asked to appropriate Over 41 Million Dollars to Run State Government

AN INCREASE OF HALF MILLION OVER 1927

FIGURES FOR 2 YEARS SET BY ADMINISTRATION AND FINANCE DEPARTMENT

CHIEF AMONG REQUESTS ARE FOR STATE INSTITUTIONS AND HUMANE WORKS

St. Paul, Jan. 10.—(UP)—The 1929 Minnesota legislature today was asked by the Department of Administration and Finance, through Governor Theodore Christianson, to appropriate $41,204,646.47, for the operation of the state government during the coming two years.

The requested sum is an increase of $574,312.19 over the amount appropriated in 1927, but is $4,373,929.37 less than the $45,578,575.84 asked by the various state departments and bureaus.

Of the total, $21,199,035.47 will be available either immediately or during the first of the year, and $20,005,611 will be available the second year of the biennium.

Chief among the requested increased appropriations are those of state institutions under the board of control and other humane works. Costs in actual government reveal a decrease.

Several new buildings are asked by the board of control, which explained that the number of inmates are increasing in state institutions.

The general classes of the appropriations are shown in the following: Legislature and courts—1927 appropriation $1,191,950; 1929 recommendation $1,408,018.

Education—1927 appropriation $19,998,191; 1929 recommendation $20,345,960.

State Institutions—1927 appropriation $7,447,400; 1929 recommendation $8,394,300.

Agriculture—1927 appropriation

$1,918,950; 1929 recommendation $1,669,400.

Aid to Fire Departments—1927 appropriation $430,000; 1929 recommendation $460,000.

Aid to County Sanatoria—1927 appropriation $788,200; 1929 recommendation $897,000.

Soldiers Home—1927 appropriation $380,000; 1929 recommendation $401,200.

Miscellaneous—1927 appropriation $998,066; 1929 recommendation $1,021,095.

General Government—1927 appropriation $7,477,477; 1929 recommendation $6,673,673.

Game and fish department omitted this year so net reduction $499,750 less than amount shown or $304,154.

St. Paul, Jan. 10.—A cigarette tax bill which its author declared would add $2,000,000 revenue annually to the state coffers was introduced in the House today by Rep. Roy E. Dunn, Pelican Rapids.

The bill, one of five introduced thus far, would impose a two-cent tax on each package of 20 or less cigarettes and two cents on each additional 20 cigarettes. A one-cent tax would also be placed on each package of 50 cigarette papers.

Rep. Dunn estimated that based on consumption of 2,000,000,000 cigarettes in Minnesota during 1928, the tax income added to the $140,000 collected annually from the cigarette dealers would make the smokers contribution to the state approximately $2,500,000.

Eleven states in the union have similar cigarette taxes, Dunn said.

Rep. F. A. Green, Warren, introduced two bills. The first would direct the commissioner of drainage to reconstruct the outlet in Tamarack river of State Ditch No. 2, in Marshall county, and appropriate $50,000 for that purpose. The second would fix the terms of district court in the fourteenth judicial district.

ARE NERVOUSLY PACING CELLS, LAWYERS PREPARE IN SANITY APPEAL

Franklin, La., Jan. 10.—(UP)—With their scheduled execution only 48 hours away, Mrs. Ada Booner Le Boeuf and Dr. Thomas E. Dreher, condemned slayers of Mrs. LeBoeuf's husband, paced their cells nervously today, while defense attorneys prepared argument to support an insanity appeal to the supreme court.

Briefs, appealing the decision of Judge James D. Simon refusing to appoint a sanity commission, will be heard by the supreme court tomorrow. The defense brief challenged his right to declare the illicit lovers sane and order them to pay the extreme penalty for their crime.

The defense contends Mrs. LeBoeuf and Dr. Dreher have become insane during their 18 months confinement in jail.

One other course is open to the defense. If the insanity appeal is denied, defense indicated it might petition the district court for a new trial.

The motion for a new trial would be based on the contention that the jury which convicted Mrs. LeBoeuf and Dr. Dreher was influenced by threats of a mob which surrounded the courtroom during the trial.

He danced with his fiancée, Miss Florence Trumbull, the governor's daughter, and with as many other girls as he could.

ALLEGED DEATH PLOT WINDS UP WITH MAN SLAIN

TWO MAKING CONFESSIONS IN ALLEGED PLOT AGAINST DETROIT, MICH., MAN

RALPH A. WOOD'S WIFE AND MOTHER-IN-LAW HELD AS POLICE WITNESSES

Detroit, Jan. 10.—(UP)—An alleged death plot against Ralph A. Wood, 33-year-old construction company head, wound up today with one gunman killed, two making confessions, and Wood's wife and 70-year-old mother-in-law held as police witnesses.

Wood, who is wealthy, had sued his wife Grace, 13 years his senior, for divorce. There was argument over a money settlement.

Then a man reported to Wood that he and three others had had conferences with Mrs. Wood and decided to "bump off" the wealthy builder the informant said he had "cold feet" but that the others were to make an attempt on Wood's life last night. A $100,000 insurance policy, made out to Wood's wife, was at stake, it was said.

Last night police gathered in Wood's office in Wyandotte, a suburb. Two gangsters with blackjacks crept up to the office from outside. Wood opened the door and the officers started firing. One of the two men fell. The other ran and boarded an automobile, containing two men, which drove up at that moment.

Later police arrested Taylor Pierce and William Thompson, both aged 22, as two of the three who fled in the car. The dead man was identified as Ambrose Haggerty, 21. Pierce and Thompson confessed fully, police said.

FORMER SEC. WORK MAKES EXPLANATION IN INDIAN AFFAIRS

Washington, Jan. 10.—(UP)—Former Sec. of Interior Work told the senate Indian affairs committee today he halted the prosecution of Indian Commissioner Burke in the famous Jackson Barnett Indian case because Burke believed he was being persecuted.

Work said the case had been handled before his administration and he had no personal knowledge of the facts involved.

EXTERMINATION WAR AGAINST APACHE BAND

Douglas, Ariz., Jan. 10.—(UP)—War of wholesale extermination against an outlaw band of Apache Indians which has been plundering and killing residents of the border region for more than two years was believed in its last stages today.

Francisco Fimbres, Sonora cattleman whose wife was killed and his infant son kidnaped in October, 1926, was reported to have led his posse to a canyon in the Sierra Madre mountains directly east of Colonias Morelos believed to be the rendezvous of the Apache outlaws.

Smoke was seen pouring from the canyon, and Mexican officials were hopeful that Fimbres and his associates at last have succeeded in surrounding the elusive raiders.

Veteran Indian fighters were assembled here today, awaiting a call for reinforcements in the event of a clash.

FINDS BOTH FAVOR AND DISFAVOR SHOWN

DOUBT EXPRESSED ABOUT USING AVAILABLE SINKING FUND MONEY

GOVERNOR DECLARES THESE DETAILS FOR LEGISLATURE TO WORK OUT

St. Paul, Jan. 10.—(UP)—Governor Theodore Christianson's opposition to the proposed $20,000,000 highway bond issue, expressed Wednesday in his message to the 1929 legislature, today found both favor and disfavor with highway leaders and members of the legislature.

There was some doubt as to just how far the governor approved the refunding of county reimbursement bonds to pay for highway work or whether he favored the use this year of $10,000,000 available in the sinking fund.

The governor declared that these were details for the legislature to work out for itself, he had provided the general plan for procedure.

J. E. Reynolds, president of the Minnesota Good Roads association, said he was disappointed with the governor's attitude on the bond issue but added "the fight is not yet lost."

Senator A. J. Rockne, Zumbrota, who in 1927 was the most severe critic of the governor's economy program, said: "It was an able message but there is much to be said on the other side."

Senator J. D. Sullivan, St. Cloud: "It seems to me that the governor's discussion of highways indicates a lack of harmony between himself and his appointees, the highway commissioners. I cannot see why he and the commissioner do not get together more harmoniously on a real efficient program."

Senator J. A. Carley, Plainview: "I am entirely in accord with the governor's views on the proposed bond issue."

Senator Victor Christgau, Austin: "I think the speech was a masterpiece and represents the sentiment of the legislature."

Senator Victor Lawson, Willmar: "I think the governor's speech pretty closely represents the sentiment of the people."

'LADIES NIGHT' AT TURKISH BATHS; FIRE—THEN BLUSHES

Philadelphia, Jan. 10.—(UP)—"Ladies night" at the Roosters Turkish baths was as usual last night until one of the 50 women patrons shouted "fire!"

In the excitement, some dressed, some ran and some did nothing until firemen arrived and then they seized towels and clothing.

The firemen found much smoke, a little fire and many blushes.

SANGER RETIRES FROM FAIR BOARD

Minneapolis, Jan. 10.—(UP)—William F. Sanger, Window, president of the Minnesota Agricultural society which controls the affairs of the Minnesota state fair, today definitely announced his retirement.

The fair chief made his announcement at the annual meeting of the Agricultural society at the Nicollet hotel.

Frank E. Millard, Wheaton, was the most prominently mentioned as Sanger's successor.

FORMER MUSICAL COMEDY STAR FOUND SHOT TO DEATH

Little Rock, Ark., Jan. 10.—(UP)—Florence Newsom Baker, 30, former musical comedy star, was found today shot to death in the garage of her divorced husband, Robert A. Baker, prominent Little Rock business man, according to a report to police.

It was believed she committed suicide. No motive for the act was known, the report said.

EXTERMINATION WAR AGAINST APACHE BAND

Douglas, Ariz., Jan. 10.—(UP)—War of wholesale extermination against an outlaw band of Apache Indians which has been plundering and killing residents of the border region for more than two years was believed in its last stages today.

Francisco Fimbres, Sonora cattlemen whose wife was killed and his infant son kidnapped in October, 1926, was reported to have led his posse to a canyon in the Sierra Madre mountains directly east of Colonias Morelos believed to be the rendezvous of the Apache outlaws.

Smoke was seen pouring from the canyon, and Mexican officials were hopeful that Fimbres and his associates at last have succeeded in surrounding the elusive raiders.

Veteran Indian fighters were assembled here today, awaiting a call for reinforcements in the event of a clash.

FINDS BOTH FAVOR AND DISFAVOR SHOWN

DOUBT EXPRESSED ABOUT USING AVAILABLE SINKING FUND MONEY

GOVERNOR DECLARES THESE DETAILS FOR LEGISLATURE TO WORK OUT

St. Paul, Jan. 10.—(UP)—Governor Theodore Christianson's opposition to the proposed $20,000,000 highway bond issue, expressed Wednesday in his message to the 1929 legislature, today found both favor and disfavor with highway leaders and members of the legislature.

There was some doubt as to just how far the governor approved the refunding of county reimbursement bonds to pay for highway work or whether he favored the use this year of $10,000,000 available in the sinking fund.

The governor declared that these were details for the legislature to work out for itself, he had provided the general plan for procedure.

J. E. Reynolds, president of the Minnesota Good Roads association, said he was disappointed with the governor's attitude on the bond issue but added "the fight is not yet lost."

Senator A. J. Rockne, Zumbrota, who in 1927 was the most severe critic of the governor's economy program, said: "It was an able message but there is much to be said on the other side."

Senator J. D. Sullivan, St. Cloud: "It seems to me that the governor's discussion of highways indicates a lack of harmony between himself and his appointee, the highway commissioner. I cannot see why he and the commissioner do not get together more harmoniously on a real efficient program."

Senator J. A. Carley, Plainview: "I am entirely in accord with the governor's views on the proposed bond issue."

Senator Victor Christgau, Austin: "I think the speech was a masterpiece and represents the sentiment of the legislature."

Senator Victor Lawson, Willmar: "I think the governor's speech pretty closely represents the sentiment of the people."

'LADIES NIGHT' AT TURKISH BATHS; FIRE—THEN BLUSHES

Philadelphia, Jan. 10.—(UP)—"Ladies night" at the Rooman Turkish baths was as usual last night until one of the 50 women patrons shouted "fire!"

In the excitement, some dressed, some ran and some did nothing until firemen arrived and then they seized towels and clothing.

The firemen found much smoke, a little fire and many blushes.

SANGER RETIRES FROM FAIR BOARD

Minneapolis, Jan. 10.—(UP)—William F. Sanger, Window, president of the Minnesota Agricultural society which controls the affairs of the Minnesota state fair, today definitely announced his retirement.

The fair chief made his announcement at the annual meeting of the Agricultural society at the Nicollet hotel.

Frank E. Millard, Wheaton, was the most prominently mentioned as Sanger's successor.

FORMER MUSICAL COMEDY STAR FOUND SHOT TO DEATH

Little Rock, Ark., Jan. 10.—(UP)—Florence Newsom Baker, 30, former musical comedy star, was found today shot to death in the garage of her divorced husband, Robert A. Baker, prominent Little Rock business man, according to a report to police.

It was believed she committed suicide. No motive for the act was known, the report said.

Pumpkin Keeps Popularity

This generation has known the pumpkin more as a symbol of the harvest season than as the vegetable of all uses. Pumpkin is still popular, and not only because it is a substitute for what the Puritan blue laws styled "anti-Christian minced pies," but other than that their only use is for Halloween jack o' lanterns and dairy fodder. Every year the production exceeds the consumption.—Rutland Herald.

chairman of the 1927 appropriations committee, introduced a legislative expense bill appropriating $100,000 for salaries of legislators, the lieutenant-governor, mileage and employees salaries. On his motion the house rules were suspended and the bill was passed immediately.

The fifth bill, introduced by Rep. L. E. Bropher, Minneapolis, Wednesday would amend the election laws to permit closing of polls at 7 p. m. instead of 9 p. m. as at present.

Rep. Albert Lagerstedt, Gibbon, introduced a resolution to the effect that the House favors retrenchment in legislative expenditures as may be imposed with consistency. Rep. Guy Dilley, St. Paul, gave notice of debate and the resolution was laid over until Monday night, the next House session, for debate and a vote.

Meanwhile in the Senate a new aviation bill was introduced and recommendations adopted for two new committees, on the university and on aviation.

The aviation bill, introduced by Sen. C. E. Adams, Duluth, would provide that cities, villages, towns and counties shall be authorized to acquire lease, improve and operate airports and shall be authorized to condemn property for such purposes.

Sen. Christ Rosenmeier, Little Falls, chairman of the rules committee, presented the recommendations for the two new committees. As adopted by the Senate there will be 11 men on the university committee and nine on the aviation committee.

Establishment of the university committee was made necessary by the supreme court ruling to the effect that the institution was free from domination of the administration and finance department in financial matters and that the regents should be appointed by the legislature and not by the governor as heretofore.

The first official act of the committee, probably will be the naming of 12 regents for the university.

Other bills introduced in the senate follow:

Cleveland, O., Jan. 10.—(UP)—Arthur Emery, 15, who was operated on here recently for the removal of an abscess on his brain which authorities said caused criminal tendencies and made him a "bad boy" is reported on the road to definite recovery.

The abscess is gone, but whether the criminal tendencies went with it, is only problematic. He is expected to be removed shortly to his home at New Philadelphia.

Arthur was arrested for rifling a postoffice box at New Philadelphia.

WHEN fattening sweets tempt and you dread extra weight, light a Lucky instead. No discomfort, no trouble—just a common sense method of retaining a slender figure.

The finest tobaccos are skilfully blended to make Lucky Strike. Then, "It's Toasted." This secret process brings out every essence in the tobaccos and produces a flavor which makes Lucky Strike a delightful alternative when you crave fattening sweets—there is no interference with a natural appetite for healthful foods. That's why folks say: "It's good to smoke Luckies."

At the same time toasting removes impurities. That's why 20,679 physicians are on record that Lucky Strike is less irritating than other cigarettes. That's why prominent athletes have testified that Luckies steady their nerves and do not impair their physical condition. No wonder that this was discovered long ago by many men, who pride themselves on keeping trim and fit, who love the "pep" that comes with health and vigor.

A reasonable proportion of sugar in the diet is recommended, but the authorities are overwhelming that too many fattening sweets are harmful and that too many such are eaten by the American people. So, for moderation's sake we say:—

IS YOUR HOME A HOME?

THE cottage was thatched, a plum tree climbed its walls, and a clump of sweet honeysuckle grew near the gate. At the door stood the occupant, of whom the Passer-By inquired the time of day. He pulled out a silver watch appended to a very heavy silver chain, and replied with ex-actitude.

"You have a lovely home here," the Passer-By said, and was startled by the response.

"Do you mean a lovely house or a lovely home?" The Passer-By admitted the discrimination was a just one. And then he was surprised again, as the old man smilingly quoted a stanza of Victor Hugo's:

A house is built of brick and stone,
Of tiles and posts and piers,
But a home is built of loving deeds
That stand a thousand years.

He nodded pleasurable agreement with the sentiment, but the old gentleman plunged still deeper.

"What do you think I cherish best about this place? Not the loveliness of scene that you see stretching out before you. No! no! Not the picture of the house and its material environment. I first saw the light in this cottage, my ancestors have lived here for over 300 years. The things I recall best are the dear faces of those who loved me and whom I loved. Not loving deeds alone, but the atmosphere, the loving associations of this home distinguish it from every spot on earth to me. I planted yon damson tree. Pretty to look at, isn't it? I've never gone far afield. I'm one of the rolling stones that's gathered no moss." And the old man chuckled.

"You appear to have gathered something else," the Passer-By ejaculated.

"Well, yes, in my three-quarters of a century I've learned a few things, one of which is this: A man can give a woman a house but it is she who transforms it into a home. This is home. We don't reside here; we live here—don't we, Mary?"

This to his wife who had just emerged from the doorway. She was as neat as ninnepence, and as sweet as the honeysuckle that shed its fragrance all around. She pressed upon the Passer-By a glass of milk. And at the bend in the road he turned for a last look at them framed in their exquisite home surroundings.

A SENSIBLE ROAD PROGRAM

STATE HIGHWAY COMMISSIONER BABCOCK has submitted to the state a series of recommendations for a road program, the most important of which are as follows:

First—A twenty-million-dollar bond issue to be retired in fifteen years, with which Mr. Babcock says he can pave a thousand miles of heavily traveled highways. The saving in maintenance cost will more than pay the interest and retire the bonds.

Second—An increase in the gasoline tax from two cents to four. Under the Constitutional amendment adopted by the voters a third of that will have to go to local roads, but the remaining two-thirds will be available for the trunk highway system.

Third—A state traffic patrol under the supervision of the highway department, with its powers limited to enforcing state traffic regulations. This will be an investment in the protection of human life and limb.

This is a sound, intelligent program, says the Duluth Herald. It is thoroughly justified on practical grounds and on grounds of economy.

Though to the unseeing it may look like a heavy expenditure of public money, anybody capable of grasping a business proposition will be able to see that in the end it will save money by averting the waste involved in the present hopeless effort to maintain graveled highways where the traffic is so heavy that maintenance, though terribly expensive, is impossible.

Whether or not the legislature will adopt this program The Herald does not know.

But if intelligence and sound business judgment prevail in St. Paul on this issue, the legislature will adopt it and Governor Christianson will sign the bills.

SPEND SIX MILLIONS TO SAVE FIFTEEN

COMMISSIONER CHARLES M. BABCOCK makes the case for State road bonds so clear, and states it so simply, that no school-boy in Minnesota should have the slightest doubt as to the economy of borrowing twenty million dollars for the immediate paving of a thousand miles of highway, says the Minneapolis Journal.

The interest charges, over a period of fifteen years, would be a little more than six million dollars. But immediate paving of this mileage would reduce present maintenance outgo by a million dollars a year.

Subtracting the total of interest from the total maintenance cost reduction in the fifteen years, leaves nearly nine million dollars as the demonstrable net saving for the State.

And still there are plenty of folk around who continue to oppose the bond plan on the ground that it involves an avoidable outgo of some millions of dollars for interest—that the State would be better off to the extent of these interest payments, should it adhere to the present pay-as-you-go policy.

If the problem were a deep and complex one, understandable only through a long and intensive study of graphs, charts, curves, tables and statistics, some of these folk who now oppose the bonds might be out shouting for them.

But it takes neither graph nor chart, nothing more than a stub pencil and the back of an envelope, to demonstrate that spending six million dollars in interest charges to save fifteen million dollars in repair bills, is a most economical move.

Perhaps that's the reason for the strength of the opposition. The whole thing is so amazingly simple that suspicious politicians and editors think there must be a catch in it somewhere.

As though one siege of the flu is not enough, we now hear scientists and doctors saying that a second visitation, more severe than the first, may scourge the United States.

MISERY loves company and the old adage is exemplified in real life, for when things go wrong they have a habit of going wrong in a whole series of things.

THE Chamber of Commerce at its annual election of officers practically decided to abide by present methods of conducting the Chamber's affairs.

OAK LAWN

Oscar and Melvin Peterson, Donald and Wilfred Aspholm and Alfred Sather visited at the Frank Miller home Thursday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Pointon and family and Miss Sarah Pointon and Mr. and Mrs. Roy Norton were dinner guests at the Dan Peterson home Sunday. Mr. and Mrs. F. A. Miller also spent the evening there.

Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Aspholm and Mrs. T. L. Livingston visited at the Tom Dullum home Sunday.

Lawrence McCulloch attended a stag party at the Jack Mutch home Monday evening.

DAGGETT BROOK

Henry Zulick is very sick with double pneumonia and pleurisy, after effects of the measles. We hope he will recover soon.

Quite a number of Daggett Brook's young people motored to Harding Tuesday evening to see the boxing match.

Bert Rouse was a Brainerd visitor last Wednesday afternoon.

The Daggett Brook farm bureau unit will meet again on Thursday night. We are sure there will be a fine program again.

Miss Hannah Linn received word of the death of her little nephew, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Ben Erickson, of Brainerd. Our sympathy is extended to the bereaved family.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Ringering are the proud parents of a baby girl born New Year's night. Mother and baby are doing fine at the Gorton home hospital.

BLIND LAKE

Mr. Hurbin of Swanberg spent three days in the neighborhood with his saw rig this week. He sawed wood for Ben Mayer, Pratt and Carl Hilderbran.

Our dear neighbor and member of the ladies community aid, Mrs. Dick Sweet, was laid to rest last Friday afternoon. The services were held at the Methodist church at Pine River, Rev. Fred Lind in charge. Ten of our members attended in a body, and each placed a flower of love on the casket as we had our last look.

Mr. and Mrs. Lark Wright came up last Wednesday to visit her sister, Mrs. Seekies, and family, and to attend the funeral of Mrs. Dick Sweet on Friday afternoon.

L. O. and Emery Fick received a message from Iowa that their mother had pneumonia and left on Thursday morning for Iowa. Word was received Friday that she was out of danger. They expect to be gone a couple of weeks.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Hardy and children, Charles, Helen and Archie went to Brainerd Saturday to attend the funeral of their grandson, Gerald Hauggerde, who had been ill at the hospital for three weeks. They returned home Monday evening.

Earnest Fick is sick with the measles.

There is no school this week as nearly every scholar has been sick with the measles. Those recovering are still too weak to attend school.

SOUTH LONG LAKE

Sunday school next Sunday morning at 11 o'clock. All are cordially invited.

We are glad to hear that Mrs. Albert Krueger, who has been quite sick with pneumonia is gradually improving. She is still with her son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Krueger of Brainerd.

L. Wiedt was a Brainerd shopper last week.

A great many of the farmers shipped cattle Monday.

Mrs. L. Semoldt and family returned to her home at Montevideo after

EVA VON BERNE and JOHN GILBERT
in "THE MASKS OF THE DEVIL"

Huge Garden is Built for Film

A complete replica of a huge garden in Vienna was constructed on an interior stage at the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer studios for the garden sequence in John Gilbert's starring picture, "The Masks of the Devil," a passionate romance of love and tragedy, now showing at the Lyceum theatre.

No garden big enough and elaborate enough for the great garden party in the picture could be found in or around Los Angeles, so the studio garden corps built it indoors. More than 20 full-size trees and 200 shrubs were used.

The garden party is given by John Gilbert, who plays an aristocratic philanthropist, in honor of Eva von Berne, the young affianced bride of his best friend, whom he is trying to win for himself during the friend's absence.

Victor Seastrom directed. In the cast are Alma Rubens, Theodore Roberts, Ralph Forbes and others.

A two weeks visit with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. D. Sutton.

A watch night party was held New Year's eve, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Senn. The evening was spent in song and music, after which a midnight lunch was served. Those present were Mr. and Mrs. Walter Eschenbacher, Ed Eschenbacher and daughters, Mildred and Evelyn, Louis Wohlfather and Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Sutton.

We were sorry to hear that Mrs. Delbert Busby was on the sick list again. Her friends hope for a speedy recovery.

IS YOUR HOME A HOME?

THE cottage was thatched, a plum tree climbed its walls, and a clump of sweet honeysuckle grew near the gate. At the door stood the occupant, of whom the Passer-By inquired the time of day. He pulled out a silver watch appended to a very heavy silver chain, and replied with ex-actitude.

"You have a lovely home here," the Passer-By said, and was startled by the response.

"Do you mean a lovely house or a lovely home?" The Passer-By admitted the discrimination was a just one. And then he was surprised again, as the old man smilingly quoted a stanza of Victor Hugo's:

A house is built of brick and stone,
Of tiles and posts and piers,
But a home is built of loving deeds
That stand a thousand years.

He nodded pleasurable agreement with the sentiment, but the old gentleman plunged still deeper.

"What do you think I cherish best about this place? Not the loveliness of scene that you see stretching out before you. No! no! Not the picture of the house and its material environment. I first saw the light in this cottage, my ancestors have lived here for over 300 years. The things I recall best are the dear faces of those who loved me and whom I loved. Not loving deeds alone, but the atmosphere, the loving associations of this home distinguish it from every spot on earth to me. I planted you damson tree. Pretty to look at, isn't it? I've never gone far afield. I'm one of the rolling stones that's gathered no moss." And the old man chuckled.

"You appear to have gathered something else," the Passer-By ejaculated.

"Well, yes, in my three-quarters of a century I've learned a few things, one of which is this: A man can give a woman a house but it is she who transforms it into a home. This is home. We don't reside here; we live here—don't we, Mary?"

This to his wife who had just emerged from the doorway. She was as neat as ninepence, and as sweet as the honeysuckle that shed its fragrance all around. She pressed upon the Passer-By a glass of milk. And at the bend in the road he turned for a last look at them framed in their exquisite home surroundings.

A SENSIBLE ROAD PROGRAM

STATE HIGHWAY COMMISSIONER BABCOCK has submitted to the state a series of recommendations for a road program, the most important of which are as follows:

- First—A twenty-million-dollar bond issue to be retired in fifteen years, with which Mr. Babcock says he can pave a thousand miles of heavily traveled highways. The saving in maintenance cost will more than pay the interest and retire the bonds.
 - Second—An increase in the gasoline tax from two cents to four. Under the Constitutional amendment adopted by the voters a third of that will have to go to local roads, but the remaining two-thirds will be available for the trunk highway system.
 - Third—A state traffic patrol under the supervision of the highway department, with its powers limited to enforcing state traffic regulations. This will be an investment in the protection of human life and limb.
- This is a sound, intelligent program, says the Duluth Herald. It is thoroughly justified on practical grounds and on grounds of economy.
- Though to the unseeing it may look like a heavy expenditure of public money, anybody capable of grasping a business proposition will be able to see that in the end it will save money by averting the waste involved in the present hopeless effort to maintain graveled highways where the traffic is so heavy that maintenance, though terribly expensive, is impossible.
- Whether or not the legislature will adopt this program The Herald does not know.
- But if intelligence and sound business judgment prevail in St. Paul on this issue, the legislature will adopt it and Governor Christianson will sign the bills.

SPEND SIX MILLIONS TO SAVE FIFTEEN

COMMISSIONER CHARLES M. BABCOCK makes the case for State road bonds so clear, and states it so simply, that no school-boy in Minnesota should have the slightest doubt as to the economy of borrowing twenty million dollars for the immediate paving of a thousand miles of highway, says the Minneapolis Journal.

The interest charges, over a period of fifteen years, would be a little more than six million dollars. But immediate paving of this mileage would reduce present maintenance outgo by a million dollars a year.

Subtracting the total of interest from the total maintenance cost reduction in the fifteen years, leaves nearly nine million dollars as the demonstrable net saving for the State.

And still there are plenty of folk around who continue to oppose the bond plan on the ground that it involves an avoidable outgo of some millions of dollars for interest—that the State would be better off to the extent of these interest payments, should it adhere to the present pay-as-you-go policy.

If the problem were a deep and complex one, understandable only through a long and intensive study of graphs, charts, curves, tables and statistics, some of these folk who now oppose the bonds might be out shouting for them.

But it takes neither graph nor chart, nothing more than a stub pencil and the back of an envelope, to demonstrate that spending six million dollars in interest charges to save fifteen million dollars in repair bills, is a most economical move.

Perhaps that's the reason for the strength of the opposition. The whole thing is so amazingly simple that suspicious politicians and editors think there must be a catch in it somewhere.

As though one siege of the flu is not enough, we now hear scientists and doctors saying that a second visitation, more severe than the first, may scourge the United States.

MISERY loves company and the old adage is exemplified in real life, for when things go wrong they have a habit of going wrong in a whole series of things.

THE Chamber of Commerce at its annual election of officers practically decided to abide by present methods of conducting the Chamber's affairs.

OAK LAWN

Oscar and Melvin Peterson, Donald and Wilfred Aspholm and Alfred Sather visited at the Frank Miller home Thursday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Pouton and family and Miss Sarah Pouton and Mr. and Mrs. Roy Norton were dinner guests at the Dan Peterson home Sunday. Mr. and Mrs. F. A. Miller also spent the evening there.

Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Aspholm and Mrs. T. L. Livingston visited at the Tom Dullum home Sunday.

Lawrence McCulloch attended a stag party at the Jack Mutch home Monday evening.

Frank Miller helped Roy Norton butcher last Friday.

Miss Lena Schone and Bernhard Swanson and Miss Ruby Miller spent New Year's eve with Miss Alice McCulloch.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Miller and daughter, Virginia were dinner guests at the Paul Gibbs home New Year's night.

Misses Lena Schone and Alice McCulloch motored to Brainerd Monday.

Mrs. Lawrence McCulloch and Mr. and Mrs. Frank Miller spent New Year's eve with Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Aspholm of the Early apartments. It being the latter's birthday, the ladies furnished ice cream and a large birthday cake.

Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Kyo were dinner guests at the Lawrence McCulloch home New Year's day.

Mrs. K. Schone and daughter, Gladys, spent last week visiting with the former's daughter of Duluth.

Mrs. K. Schone and daughter, Lena and Frank Miller and daughter, Ruby called at the Lawrence McCulloch home Wednesday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Norton left for Canton, Minn., Friday morning. They were called by the death of Mr. Norton's mother.

Mr. and Mrs. Dan Peterson and family spent Thursday evening with Mr. and Mrs. Raleigh Lynes of Brainerd.

Frank Miller and Miss Ruby Miller visited with Mrs. R. B. Miller and family Wednesday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Oscar W. Swanson, Anton Swanson and children and Mr. and Mrs. Frank Alexander of Brainerd spent New Year's night with Mr. and Mrs. Dan Peterson.

DAGGETT BROOK

Henry Zulick is very sick with double pneumonia and pleurisy, after effects of the measles. We hope he will recover soon.

Quite a number of Daggett Brook's young people motored to Harding Tuesday evening to see the boxing match.

Bert Rouse was a Brainerd visitor last Wednesday afternoon.

The Daggett Brook farm bureau unit will meet again on Thursday night. We are sure there will be a fine program again.

Miss Hannah Linn received word of the death of her little nephew, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Ben Erickson, of Brainerd. Our sympathy is extended to the bereaved family.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Ringering are the proud parents of a baby girl born New Year's night. Mother and baby are doing fine at the Gorton home hospital.

BLIND LAKE

Mr. Hurbin of Swanberg spent three days in the neighborhood with his saw rig this week. He sawed wood for Ben Mayer, Pratt and Carl Hilderbran.

Our dear neighbor and member of the ladies community aid, Mrs. Dick Sweet, was laid to rest last Friday afternoon. The services were held at the Methodist church at Pine River, Rev. Fred Lind in charge. Ten of our members attended in a body, and each placed a flower of love on the casket as we had our last look.

Mr. and Mrs. Lark Wright came up last Wednesday to visit her sister, Mrs. Seekles, and family, and to attend the funeral of Mrs. Dick Sweet on Friday afternoon.

L. O. and Emery Fick received a message from Iowa that their mother had pneumonia and left on Thursday morning for Iowa. Word was received Friday that she was out of danger. They expect to be gone a couple of weeks.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Hardy and children, Charles, Helen and Archie went to Brainerd Saturday to attend the funeral of their grandson, Gerald Hauggerode, who had been ill at the hospital for three weeks. They returned home Monday evening.

Earnest Fick is sick with the measles.

There is no school this week as nearly every scholar has been sick with the measles. Those recovering are still too weak to attend school.

SOUTH LONG LAKE

Sunday school next Sunday morning at 11 o'clock. All are cordially invited.

We are glad to hear that Mrs. Albert Krueger, who has been quite sick with pneumonia is gradually improving. She is still with her son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Krueger of Brainerd.

L. Wedl was a Brainerd shopper last week.

A great many of the farmers shipped cattle Monday.

Mrs. L. Schmidt and family returned to her home at Montevideo after recovery.

EVA VON BERNE and JOHN GILBERT
"THE MASKS OF THE DEVIL"

Huge Garden is Built for Film

A complete replica of a huge garden in Vienna was constructed on an interior stage at the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer studios for the garden sequence in John Gilbert's starring picture, "The Masks of the Devil," a passionate romance of love and tragedy, now showing at the Lyceum theatre.

No garden big enough and elaborate enough for the great garden party in the picture could be found in or around Los Angeles, so the studio garden corps built it indoors. More than 20 full-size trees and 200 shrubs were used.

The garden party is given by John Gilbert, who plays an aristocratic philanthropist, in honor of Eva von Berne, the young affianced bride of his best friend, whom he is trying to win for himself during the friend's absence.

Victor Seastrom directed. In the cast are Alma Rubens, Theodore Roberts, Ralph Forbes and others.

a two weeks visit with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. D. Sutton.

A watch night party was held New Year's eve, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Senn. The evening was spent in song and music, after which a midnight lunch was served. Those present were Mr. and Mrs. Walter Eschenbacher, Ed Eschenbacher and daughters, Mildred and Evelyn, Louis Wohlfather and Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Sutton.

We were sorry to hear that Mrs. Delbert Busby was on the sick list again. Her friends hope for a speedy recovery.

John Hancock's signature

You have heard of him, of course. Everyone has. His signature is the first affixed, the most boldly executed, on the Declaration of Independence.

When that great document was drawn up and ready to sign, there was a pause. It was a moment of grave importance to all present. By placing their signatures on this paper, they would put themselves on record as avowed rebels against the British crown—a hanging offense. At this juncture John Hancock stood up, seized the pen, and wrote his name on the parchment as large and black as he could. By this act he advertised to the world that he stood ready to make any sacrifice—even life itself—in support of his principles and ideals. His signature afforded a permanent record of his good faith.

Advertisers who go to great expense to place before the public printed announcements of their products are offering similar evidences of good faith, equal guarantees of fair dealing. Advertised goods are reputable, dependable, vouched for by manufacturers and dealers who are known and respected. By reading the advertising in this paper you will acquaint yourself with the safest and most economical sources of supply, the products which will serve you best and longest. Advertisements are the surest index to efficient buying. Do not neglect them.

HIS PAL AND COUNSELOR, TEX RICKARD GONE

EX-CHAMPION PROMISES TO MAKE PUBLIC HIS FUTURE PLANS

WOULD LIKE TO STAY AWAY FROM RING, BUT BOXING NEEDS HIM

By GEORGE KIRKSEY (United Press Staff Correspondent)

New York, Jan. 10.—His pal and counselor Tex Rickard, dead and buried, Jack Dempsey today was a forlorn figure trying to grope his way to the most important decision of his career.

He promised to make public his future plans today.

Dempsey would like to stay away from the ring, but boxing needs him now as it never did before. Dempsey needs the money, but he is not considering that angle alone.

They are telling Dempsey he owes it to his departed friend to make one last glorious gesture for him.

Dempsey doesn't know what to do.

"I can't think," he said after the funeral. "Tex's gone. I don't know what to do."

With Rickard gone, Madison Square Garden has no hold on Dempsey and if Jack decides to return to the ring he may do his fighting for some one else. Floyd Fitzsimmons, Detroit promoter and close friend of Dempsey, might be in line for promoting a return bout.

It was a strange crowd that paid its last respects to Rickard. Among the 10,000 who sat silently in the vast amphitheatre reared by the genius of the late promoter were millionaires in high silk, ex-pugs in tattered sweaters, beautiful actresses, weeping women and curious men.

The promoter's slim, young wife rested on Dempsey's broad shoulder. Later she collapsed at the services at the cemetery.

The services at the Garden were brief.

Rev. Dr. George C. Moor officiated and said:

"He was a man who showed the true spirit of sportsmanship."

Dudley Field Malone said:

"Tex Rickard stirred the imagination of a nation and turned the youth to clean sports."

After the services at the cemetery chapel were over and the crowd of 2,000 dispersed, a death mask of Rickard was made. From this a bronze bust will be made and placed in the Garden as a memorial.

New York, Jan. 10.—(UP)—Jack Dempsey announced formally today that he was returning at once to Miami Beach, Fla., "to pick up negotiations with the people with whom Tex Rickard was interested to assist in the presentation of the Sharkey-Stribling fight if his services were desired."

N. E. TIGERS WIN FROM C.-I. SCHOOL

BRAINERD TEAM DEFEATS RANGE HIGH SCHOOL SECONDS BY 19-14

In an excellent game of basketball last night, the Northeast Tigers of the Brainerd Y. M. C. A. won over the second team of the high school of Crosby, playing at the Crosby-Iron-ton high school gym.

The game was a fast one throughout in which the Tigers had to put up a great battle to win against players who were larger than themselves in most cases. To the credit of the local team, it can be said that they won by playing a perfect defense.

Captain Lyle Mayo, a forward, made two baskets, Marshall, forward, made three. Storm playing center, made one basket and one free throw. Donald Quinn made three baskets and Templeton one. K. Clausen and Dryburg also played in part of the game. The final score after Crosby started with a three point lead in the first quarter, was 19-14 in favor of the Tigers.

The Tigers will play their next game at Pequot on January 18.

Richard Marshall accompanied the team to Crosby last evening.

Suspicious Change

You can't sight a man 25 years, says the philosopher in the American Magazine, and then decide to turn over a new leaf and greet him like a brother. You may mean to be friendly but the other man will suspect your motive.

BRAINERD LOSES TO MOOSE LAKE IN CLOSE GAME

SIX FOOT OPPONENTS TAKE THE LEAD NEAR END OF CONTEST, WIN 31 TO 25

LADD, WHITLOCK AND MARSHALL TEAM UP IN FINE SCORING COMBINATION

A nip and tuck battle with Moose Lake taking the lead near the close of the contest resulted in a win for Moose Lake over Brainerd in a cage contest Tuesday evening by the score of 31 to 25.

The Moose Lake six footers felt much at home on their own floor, their attack coming in the way of high passes.

The scoring combination of Ladd, Whitlock and Marshall worked well for Brainerd. Whitlock found the loop for five field goals, Marshall three and Ladd one.

Heikkinen and DeRocher played stellar games on the guard positions forcing Moose Lake to resort to long shots.

Professor Tells Why Red Grange Was Great

Here is a story, a trifle late, but perhaps, nevertheless a worthy addition to Americana, coming from Illinois.

A professor in psychology, at Illinois, spent two weeks studying Harold (Red) Grange, a man who formerly played on the Illinois team. After this exhaustive observation of two weeks, the professor made a statement to this effect:

"Grange differs from the ordinary football player in that he senses where an opening will be. Most players get the ball and run toward a hole in the line. By the time the players reach the openings they find them closed and they are smothered under a pack of tacklers. Grange would sometimes run toward a mass of players, knowing instinctively that there would be a break. He had a sixth football sense that every coach prays for and seldom gets."

And now you know why Grange was a great back.

Dreyfuss Says Bush Is Again Pirate Manager

Barney Dreyfuss, owner of the Pittsburgh National League club, has reiterated a denial of reports that Donie Bush might not return as manager of the Pirates for the 1929 season. It has been reported that Bush was being considered as a prospect for the managership at Detroit, where George Moriarity resigned.

Dreyfuss said Bush recently had expressed a desire to return to Pittsburgh next year and that he did not believe he was dickering in Detroit. The Pirate owner said there was little or no doubt that Donie would lead the Buccaneers again to the next flag race.

FIRST GAME OF HOME KIND IN BRAINERD

Y RAMBLERS TO MEET DEERWOOD INDEPENDENTS SATURDAY, JAN. 12

GAME TO START PROMPTLY AT 8:30 P. M. ADMISSION MODERATE

In the first home game played by any basketball team in Brainerd this year, the Y. M. C. A. Ramblers will meet the Deerwood Independents at the local Y. M. C. A. gym Saturday evening, Jan. 12. The game will start promptly at 8:30 o'clock. The admission charges for children and for adults will be moderate.

Although the "Y" gym is small, there is enough out of bounds space to seat comfortably from eighty to a hundred people. Tickets to the excess of that number will not be sold so everyone who buys will be sure of a comfortable seat.

The Deerwood team is a tall rangy group who have teamed up together for several years and have played some real basketball teams winning their share of games.

The "Y" boys are in good shape for the game having found their shooting eye and a real good game is expected. It is felt that local fans will not be disappointed in this game.

CODE MESSAGE LEFT BY HOUDINI REPEATED IN TRANCE

(Copyright 1929 by United Press)

New York, Jan. 9.—A code message left by Harry Houdini with his wife when he died was repeated in a trance by a spiritualist medium yesterday to Mrs. Houdini's satisfaction.

Houdini, master magician and arch-foe of spiritualism while he lived, added to the message, the medium said:

"There is no death."

It was Houdini's last request that his wife attempt to reach him at a seance. If a medium could repeat the words of the code, locked up by Mrs. Houdini in a safe deposit vault, then immortality might be proved, he said.

Last Saturday Arthur Ford, minister of the First Spiritualist church here and editor of "Immortality" received part of the code message from Houdini's spirit, he claimed. Today he visited Mrs. Houdini at her home.

With him were John W. Stafford, associate editor of Scientific America; Mrs. Stafford; Francis R. Fast, a broker; Mrs. Minnie Chester, lifelong friend of the Houdinis; a United Press representative and a woman reporter of a New York newspaper.

Mrs. Houdini lay on a cot. Her spine had been injured in a fall New Year's eve.

Ford pulled down the shades in the room. He drew chairs about the cot, where the spectators sat. Then he went into a trance. Presently he said he was connected with a "control" named Fletcher, in the "spirit world."

Fletcher, speaking through Ford, said: "The same man who came Saturday night is coming again. He says 'Hello, Bess (Houdini's pet name for his wife), my sweetheart.' He says he wants to repeat the code you used in your mind reading act with him.

"First of all he says 'Rosabelle.' Do you know what that means?"

Mrs. Houdini replied in a weak voice, "Yes."

Then the words of the code came through Ford: "Answer tell pray answer look tell answer tell."

"Is that right?" the control said.

Mrs. Houdini whispered, "Yes, it is."

"Thank you, sweetheart," came the reply. "Now take off your wedding ring and tell them what Rosabelle means."

Mrs. Houdini raised herself with an effort, got her arms free of the covers, and took off her ring. Inside was engraved a song, which the magician's widow started singing:

"Rosabelle, sweet Rosabelle, I love you more than I can tell. Over me you cast a spell. I love you, my sweet Rosabelle."

Mrs. Houdini's voice broke on the last notes, but through the control came the words:

"I thank you, darling, that was the first song I ever heard you sing, you sang it in our first show. Remember?"

"Yes," came in a sob from Mrs. Houdini.

There were further interchanges between the "control" and Mrs. Houdini. Then the former, quoting Houdini, explained the code. It was arranged as the mind-reading act of the Houdinis, and had been arranged, each word to indicate one or more letters.

"The message I wanted to give my wife is 'Believe, Rosabelle,' the explanation ended.

Mrs. Houdini nodded.

Again came the voice: "Now, I am happy that I have got the message through. All those who have lost hope must lay hold of the truth—there is no death."

With that the seance ended. Mrs. Houdini was visibly affected. "I can say unqualifiedly that that was the message we agreed on," she said. "Later when I get well, I shall open the vault in your presence and prove it."

New York, Jan. 9.—(UP)—Mrs. Beatrice Houdini prepared today to prove to a skeptical world the authenticity of the message which she says came to her yesterday from her husband, Harry Houdini, in the spirit world.

From a safety deposit box Mrs. Houdini expects, as soon as she has recovered from a sprained back, to take the sealed envelope containing the message placed there by Houdini in a pact with her before he died, to test the validity of communication from beyond the grave.

Mrs. Houdini declares that the message will be found to be identical with that received through Arthur Ford, minister of the First Spiritualist church, Carnegie hall, in a trance at her home.

The widow of the late master magician was reared in the Roman Catholic faith, she said, and was opposed to the idea of spirit communication. Her husband was known as the bitterest foe of spiritualism in the world before his death.

In the latter part of the purported communication yesterday, after the code had been explained as the single word "believe," the purported words of Houdini continued to come through Ford and a "control" called "Fletcher" as follows:

"I shall now stay close to this instrument (medium) and will have many talks with you, Bess (his pet name for his wife). I shall try to undo so much that was done by me."

Houdini was represented as saying that "mother has been with me and has helped me to get this through."

Mrs. Houdini declared that the code, known only to herself and her husband, was repeated in whole by the medium.

New York, Jan. 9.—(UP)—Support for the claim of Mrs. Beatrice Houdini that her late husband, Harry Houdini, master magician and exposé of fake psychic phenomena, had succeeded in sending to her through a spiritualist medium a message prearranged before Houdini's death, Oct. 31, 1926, came today from John W. Stefford, associate editor of Scientific American.

"In this case, accepting the good faith of all parties concerned (because I know them all personally) there is no doubt that communication was established between a living person and one dead," Stefford declared.

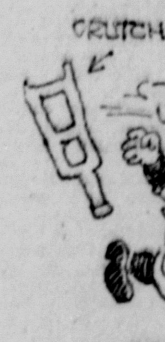

Greyhound Pigs Gone.

That greyhound pigs, that once existed in Ireland, are now extinct is the declaration of an Irish scientist. The animal was a native Irish domestic pig, probably a descendant of the wild boar and had a hairy body, long legs and ears, and often whiskers like those of a goat. Its objection to being driven to market made it unpopular, and this led to its undoing.

A Star for the Phillies

Tommy THEVENOW.

TH' SHORTSTOP WHO IS EXPECTED TO ENHANCE TH' CHANCES OF TH' PHILADELPHIA NATIONAL LEAGUE CLUB THIS YEAR.

LET ME IN THERE!

THOUGHT TO BE A CRIPPLE, TOMMY NOW LOOMS UP AS ONE OF TH' BEST BETS IN TH' GAME.

SKILL 1/5.

By QUIN HALL. PHILADELPHIA baseball fans were rather shocked when it was announced that the Phillies had obtained Tommy Thevenow, the Card shortstop for a reported $50,000 and Heinie Sand.

Here was a fellow, they argued, who was out of the St. Louis lineup during most of last season, and while he may have been a bearcat during the season of 1926 he looked like a cripple from the manner in which he was being used by the Cards in 1928.

And the Phillies, they contended, had enough cripples without going out and buying more—especially for any such figure as $50,000.

Now, however, it seems that young Thevenow is by no means a cripple, but that he is one of the best shortstop bets in the whole National League.

Manager Burt Shotton, of the Phillies, is reported to have hinted to Philly rooters that Thevenow was kept under cover in St. Louis last year simply because of the fact that the Philadelphia club had an option on his services, and that it would have been difficult for the Cardinal management to explain why they had disposed of him after he had starred in the Card infield during the season. And the general impression now seems to be that he would have starred if he had been allowed to play.

The deal dates back to the time that the Cards secured Catcher Jimmy Wilson from the Phils. At that time it was said that Shotton was giving St. Louis most of the Philadelphia ball club.

However, Burt had an ace up his sleeve and let the fans rant and rave. The ace referred to was his option on either Thevenow or Charley Gelbert, a St. Louis farmhand who starred with Rochester last season.

At the close of the year it was decided to return Gelbert for the Cards and let Thevenow go to the Phils. Under the circumstances the Cardinal management, it is said, succeeded in easing Tommy out of the Mound City without arousing the wrath of the St. Louis fans.

Another feature is regard to the deal is the fact that possibly St. Louis figured that with Thevenow out of the lineup most of last year the Philadelphia club would refuse to spend $50,000 to acquire Tommy's services.

The argument credited to Shotton seems reasonable especially in view of the fact that Rogers Hornsby, who was managing the Boston Braves last year, tried to get Thevenow, but Branch Rickey refused to talk business. Now it is rumored that the Phillies could turn around and dispose of Thevenow for about double the price paid for him, with the Cubs being mentioned as one of the clubs that would be willing to dig down in the woolsen sock if he were obtainable.

Shotton figures that Thevenow, in addition to some other players who were obtained from the Cards at the time Wilson was sent to St. Louis, is going to be instrumental in putting the Phils in the coming race in a big way.

As the deal now lines up it would seem that Shotton didn't get any of the worst of the Wilson deal and it is said that Burt is chuckling up his sleeve and that the Philadelphia fans are beginning to do a little chortling on their own account.

Frankie Frisch, the St. Louis second sacker who will be shifted to the hot corner this year, has stated that Thevenow is the fastest shortstop in the league and Frisch is noted for being conservative when talking about ball players.

Tommy will undoubtedly strengthen the Phils and Owner Baker, Shotton, and the Philadelphia fans are feeling optimistic about the coming season.

New York, Jan. 10.—His pal and counselor Tex Rickard, dead and buried, Jack Dempsey today was a forlorn figure trying to grope his way to the most important decision of his career.

He promised to make public his future plans today.

Dempsey would like to stay away from the ring, but boxing needs him now as it never did before. Dempsey needs the money, but he is not considering that angle alone.

They are telling Dempsey he owes it to his departed friend to make one last glorious gesture for him.

Dempsey doesn't know what to do.

"I can't think," he said after the funeral, "Tex's gone. I don't know what to do."

With Rickard gone, Madison Square Garden has no hold on Dempsey and if Jack decides to return to the ring he may do his fighting for some one else. Floyd Fitzsimmons, Detroit promoter and close friend of Dempsey, might be in line for promoting a return bout.

It was a strange crowd that paid its last respects to Rickard. Among the 10,000 who sat silently in the vast amphitheatre reared by the genius of the late promoter were millionaires in high silk, ex-pugs in tattered sweaters, beautiful actresses, weeping women and curious men.

The promoter's slim, young wife rested on Dempsey's broad shoulder. Later she collapsed at the services at the cemetery.

The services at the Garden were brief.

Rev. Dr. George C. Moor officiated and said:

"He was a man who showed the true spirit of sportsmanship."

Dudley Field Malone said:

"Tex Rickard stirred the imagination of a nation and turned the youth to clean sports."

After the services at the cemetery chapel were over and the crowd of 2,000 dispersed, a death mask of Rickard was made. From this a bronze bust will be made and placed in the Garden as a memorial.

N. E. TIGERS WIN FROM C.-I. SCHOOL

BRAINERD TEAM DEFEATS
RANGE HIGH SCHOOL SEC-ONDS BY 19-14

In an excellent game of basketball last night, the Northeast Tigers of the Brainerd Y. M. C. A. won over the second team of the high school of Crosby, playing at the Crosby-Iron-ton high school gym.

The game was a fast one throughout in which the Tigers had to put up a great battle to win against players who were larger than themselves in most cases. To the credit of the local team, it can be said that they won by playing a perfect defense.

Captain Lyle Mayo, a forward, made two baskets, Marshall, forward, made three. Storm playing center, made one basket and one free throw. Donald Quin made three baskets and Templeton one. K. Clausen and Dryburg also played in part of the game. The final score after Crosby started with a three point lead in the first quarter, was 19-14 in favor of the Tigers.

The Tigers will play their next game at Pequot on January 18.

Richard Marshall accompanied the team to Crosby last evening.

BRAINERD LOSES TO MOOSE LAKE IN CLOSE GAME

SIX FOOT OPPONENTS TAKE THE LEAD NEAR END OF CON-
TEST, WIN 31 TO 25

LADD, WHITLOCK AND MAR-SHALL TEAM UP IN FINE
SCORING COMBINATION

A nip and tuck battle with Moose Lake taking the lead near the close of the contest resulted in a win for Moose Lake over Brainerd in a cage contest Tuesday evening by the score of 31 to 25.

The Moose Lake six footers felt much at home on their own floor, their attack coming in the way of high passes.

The scoring combination of Ladd, Whitlock and Marshall worked well for Brainerd. Whitlock found the loop for five field goals, Marshall three and Ladd one.

Heikkinen and DeRocher played stellar games on the guard positions forcing Moose Lake to resort to long shots.

Professor Tells Why Red Grange Was Great

Here is a story, a trifle late, but perhaps, nevertheless a worthy addition to Americana, coming from Illinois.

A professor in psychology, at Illinois, spent two weeks studying Harold (Red) Grange, a man who formerly played on the Illinois team. After this exhaustive observation of two weeks, the professor made a statement to this effect:

"Grange differs from the ordinary football player in that he senses where an opening will be. Most players get the ball and run toward a hole in the line. By the time the players reach the openings they find them closed and they are smothered under a pack of tacklers. Grange would sometimes run toward a mass of players, knowing instinctively that there would be a break. He had a sixth football sense that every coach prays for and seldom gets."

And now you know why Grange was a great back.

Dreyfuss Says Bush Is Again Pirate Manager

Barney Dreyfuss, owner of the Pittsburgh National League club, has reiterated a denial of reports that Donie Bush might not return as manager of the Pirates for the 1929 season. It has been reported that Bush was being considered as a prospect for the managership at Detroit, where George Moriarity resigned.

Dreyfuss said Bush recently had expressed a desire to return to Pittsburgh next year and that he did not believe he was dickering in Detroit. The Pirate owner said there was little or no doubt that Donie would lead the Buccaneers again to the next flag race.

FIRST GAME OF HOME KIND IN BRAINERD

Y RAMBLERS TO MEET DEER-
WOOD INDEPENDENTS SAT-URDAY, JAN. 12

GAME TO START PROMPTLY AT 8:30 P. M. ADMISSION
MODERATE

In the first home game played by any basketball team in Brainerd this year, the Y. M. C. A. Ramblers will meet the Deerwood Independents at the local Y. M. C. A. gym Saturday evening, Jan. 12. The game will start promptly at 8:30 o'clock. The admission charges for children and for adults will be moderate.

Although the "Y" gym is small, there is enough out of bounds space to seat comfortably from eighty to a hundred people. Tickets to the excess of that number will not be sold so everyone who buys will be sure of a comfortable seat.

The Deerwood team is a tall rangy group who have teamed up together for several years and have played some real basketball teams winning their share of games.

The "Y" boys are in good shape for the game having found their shooting eye and a real good game is expected. It is felt that local fans will not be disappointed in this game.

CODE MESSAGE LEFT BY HOUDINI REPEATED IN TRANCE

(Copyright 1929 by United Press)
New York, Jan. 9.—A code message left by Harry Houdini with his wife when he died was repeated in a trance by a spiritualist medium yesterday to Mrs. Houdini's satisfaction.

Houdini, master magician and arch-foe of spiritualism while he lived, added to the message, the medium said:

"There is no death."
It was Houdini's last request that his wife attempt to reach him at a seance. If a medium could repeat the words of the code, locked up by Mrs. Houdini in a safe deposit vault, then immortality might be proved, he said.

Last Saturday Arthur Ford, minister of the First Spiritualist church here and editor of "Immortality" received part of the code message from Houdini's spirit, he claimed. Today he visited Mrs. Houdini at her home.

With him were John W. Stafford, associate editor of Scientific American; Mrs. Stafford; Francis R. East, a broker; Mrs. Minnie Chester, lifelong friend of the Houdinis; a United Press representative and a woman reporter of a New York newspaper.

Mrs. Houdini lay on a cot. Her spine had been injured in a fall New Year's eve.

Ford pulled down the shades in the room. He drew chairs about the cot, where the spectators sat. Then he went into a trance. Presently he said he was connected with a "control" named Fletcher, in the "spirit world."

"The same man who came Saturday night is coming again. He says 'Hello, Bess (Houdini's pet name for his wife), my sweetheart.' He says he wants to repeat the code you used in your mind reading act with him.

"First of all he says 'Rosabelle.' Do you know what that means?" Mrs. Houdini replied in a weak voice, "Yes."

Then the words of the code came through Ford: "Answer tell pray answer look tell answer answer tell." "Is that right?" the control said.

Mrs. Houdini whispered, "Yes, it is."

"Thank you, sweetheart," came the reply. "Now take off your wedding ring and tell them what Rosabelle means."

Mrs. Houdini raised herself with an effort, got her arms free of the covers, and took off her ring. Inside was engraved a song, which the magician's widow started singing:

"Rosabelle, sweet Rosabelle,
I love you more than I can tell.
Over me you cast a spell.
I love you, my sweet Rosabelle."

Mrs. Houdini's voice broke on the last notes, but through the control came the words:

"I thank you, darling, that was the first song I ever heard you sing, you sang it in our first show. Remember?"

"Yes," came in a sob from Mrs. Houdini.

There were further interchanges between the "control" and Mrs. Houdini. Then the former, quoting Houdini, explained the code. It was arranged as the mind-reading act of the Houdinis, and had been arranged, each word to indicate one or more letters.

"The message I wanted to give my wife is 'Believe, Rosabelle,'" the explanation ended.

Mrs. Houdini nodded.

Again came the voice: "Now, I am happy that I have got the message through. All those who have lost hope must lay hold of the truth—there is no death."

With that the seance ended. Mrs. Houdini was visibly affected. "I can say unqualifiedly that that was the message we agreed on," she said. "Later when I get well, I shall open the vault in your presence and prove it."

New York, Jan. 9.—(U.P.)—Mrs. Beatrice Houdini prepared today to prove to a skeptical world the authenticity of the message which she says came to her yesterday from her husband, Harry Houdini, in the spirit world.

From a safety deposit box Mrs. Houdini expects, as soon as she has recovered from a sprained back, to take the sealed envelope containing the message placed there by Houdini in a pact with her before he died, to test the validity of communication from beyond the grave.

Mrs. Houdini declares that the message will be found to be identical with that received through Arthur Ford, minister of the First Spiritualist church, Carnegie hall, in a trance at her home.

The widow of the late master magician was reared in the Roman Catholic faith, she said, and was opposed to the idea of spirit communication. Her husband was known as the bitterest foe of spiritualism in the world before his death.

In the latter part of the purported communication yesterday, after the code had been explained as the single word "believe," the purported words of Houdini continued to come through Ford and a "control" called "Fletcher" as follows:

"I shall now stay close to this instrument (medium) and will have many talks with you, Bess (his pet name for his wife). I shall try to undo so much that was done by me." Houdini was represented as saying that "mother has been with me and has helped me to get this through."

Mrs. Houdini declared that the code, known only to herself and her husband, was repeated in whole by the medium.

New York, Jan. 9.—(U.P.)—Support for the claim of Mrs. Beatrice Houdini that her late husband, Harry Houdini, master magician and exposé of fake psychic phenomena, had succeeded in sending to her through a spiritualist medium a message prearranged before Houdini's death, Oct. 31, 1926, came today from John W. Stafford, associate editor of Scientific American.

"In this case, accepting the good faith of all parties concerned (because I know them all personally) there is no doubt that communication was established between a living person and one dead," Stafford declared.

Greyhound Pigs Gone.

That greyhound pigs, that once existed in Ireland, are now extinct is the declaration of an Irish scientist. The animal was a native Irish domestic pig, probably a descendant of the wild boar and had a hairy body, long legs and ears, and often whiskers like those of a goat. Its objection to being driven to market made it unpopular, and this led to its undoing.

A Star for the Phillies

Tommy THEVENOW.

© 1929, King Features Syndicate, Inc., Great Britain rights reserved.

By QUIN HALL.

PHILADELPHIA baseball fans were rather shocked when it was announced that the Phillies had obtained Tommy Thevenow, the Card shortstop for a reported $50,000 and Heinie Sand.

Here was a fellow, they argued, who was out of the St. Louis lineup during most of last season, and while he may have been a bearcat during the season of 1926 he looked like a cripple from the manner in which he was being used by the Cards in 1928.

And the Phillies, they contended, had enough cripples without going out and buying more—especially for any such figure as $50,000.

Now, however, it seems that young Thevenow is by no means a cripple, but that he is one of the best shortstop bats in the whole National League.

starred in the Card infield during the season. And the general impression now seems to be that he would have starred if he had been allowed to play.

The deal dates back to the time that the Cards secured Catcher Jimmy Wilson from the Phils. At that time it was said that Shotton was giving St. Louis most of the Philadelphia ball club. However, Burt had an ace up his sleeve and let the fans rant and rave. The ace referred to was his option on either Thevenow or Charley Gelbert, a St. Louis farmhand who starred with Rochester last season.

At the close of the year it was decided to return Gelbert for the Cards and let Thevenow go to the Phillies. Under the circumstances the Cardinal management, it is said, succeeded in easing Tommy out of the Mound City without arousing the wrath of the St. Louis fans.

Another feature in regard to the deal is the fact that possibly St. Louis figured that with Thevenow out of the lineup most of last year the Philadelphia club would refuse to spend $50,000 to acquire Tommy's services.

The argument credited to Shotton seems reasonable especially in view of the fact that Rogers Hornsby, who was managing the Boston Braves last year, tried to get Thevenow, but Branch Ricks refused to talk business. Now it is rumored that the Phillies couldn't turn around and dispose of Thevenow for about double the price paid for him, with the Cubs being mentioned as one of the clubs that would be willing to dig down in the woolsack if he were obtainable.

Shotton figures that Thevenow, in addition to some other players who were obtained from the Cards at the time Wilson was sent to St. Louis, is going to be instrumental in putting the Phils in the coming race in a big way.

As the deal now lines up it would seem that Shotton didn't get any of the worst of the Wilson deal and it is said that Burt is chuckling up his sleeve and that the Philadelphia fans are beginning to do a little chortling on their own account.

Frankie Frisch, the St. Louis second sacker who will be shifted to the hot corner this year, has stated that Thevenow is the fastest shortstop in the league and Frisch is noted for being conservative when talking about ball players.

Tommy will undoubtedly strengthen the Phils and Owner Baker, Shotton, and the Philadelphia fans are feeling optimistic about the coming season.

COURTNEY GUILTY OF FIRST DEGREE ROBBERY

Ned Bowman, Ideal.
Glen Hite, Emily.
Mrs. Margaret Halvorson, Brainerd.
I. Bjornas, Ironton.

John J. Courtney was found guilty of robbery in the first degree in connection with the holdup of the First National bank of Ironton on November 9, 1927.

The charge carries a sentence of 5 to 40 years in prison.

The jury returned to the court room with the verdict at 8:40 p. m. yesterday after five hours of deliberation.

Present in the court room when the verdict was returned were the defendant, his sister, County Attorney Arthur J. Sullivan, Sheriff Claus A. Theorin and his deputies. Courtney was deeply affected by the verdict. His sister broke into tears.

M. F. Kinkead, of St. Paul, attorney for Courtney was notified of the verdict by telephone. He had left for his home soon after the case went to the jury at 3:37 p. m.

Judge Bert Fesler gave no indication as to when sentence would be passed.

Attorneys were of the opinion that on account of Courtney's previous conviction of grand larceny in Ramsey county no leniency would be shown in the sentence.

Courtney through his conviction of grand larceny served a sentence at Stillwater which was commuted after two years and one month.

Judge Fesler gave the sheriff's department instructions to see that no knives were permitted in Courtney's cell in the county jail which might be used by the prisoner in harming himself.

Assistant Attorney General Walter F. Wieland who left for his home in St. Paul soon after the case went to the jury was notified of the verdict last evening. Mr. Wieland conducted the state's case with the assistance of County Attorney Arthur J. Sullivan.

Attorney Lamonte P. Koop, Brainerd, assisted Mr. Kinkead in the defense.

In his closing arguments to the jury yesterday afternoon Attorney M. F. Kinkead delivered a scathing denunciation of P. W. McGarry, accusing the former poolroom proprietor, who was acquitted by a Crow Wing county jury of the charge of complicity in connection with the robbery, of getting as much out of the robbery as any of the bank bandits.

The attorney further accused McGarry of being implicated in the robbery and of stealing $20 from the $500 which he secured from Almon H. Proctor and which he brought to the sheriff's office.

ALICE R. JOHNSON IN RECITAL

Musical Club Board Fosters Piano
Concert by Brainerd
Girl

TICKET SALE STARTED

Concert to be Given on a Sunday
Afternoon at Elks
Temple

At a meeting of the Musical club board at the library on Tuesday, it was decided to foster a piano recital by Miss Alice Johnson on February 24. The board felt that one of the Musical club's reasons for being was to foster and encourage local talent. As Miss Johnson is one of Brainerd's most brilliant musical products, who has made good both as a successful teacher of music and as a concert pianist, the Musical club board was very glad to give her, as one of its own members, an opportunity to appear as one of the paid artists on this year's program. However, they felt that this concert could not be included in the membership dues—that each member must buy a separate ticket for it.

As Miss Johnson has such a host of friends both inside and outside of the club, the board members felt that they would be glad to give the price of a concert ticket in proof of that friendship, and to encourage a local artist, knowing that they would receive full value in an exceptional piano recital.

The ticket sale, for this concert, is also in exceptionally capable hands. The chairman is Mrs. E. O. Webb, whose reputation for "putting over" good things, is well known.

It was necessary to put this recital on a Sunday afternoon, as otherwise Miss Johnson would be obliged to disappoint too many of her pupils. As the club is presenting another very talented pianist next Saturday—Stell Andersen—February 24 seemed to be the earliest feasible date. This concert will be held in the same place as all the other Musical club programs—Elks' hall.

Y. M. C. A. NEWS NOTES

The Pathfinders, youngest of the seven boys' clubs of the Y. M. C. A. met for their regular weekly meeting Tuesday evening. Three new members were voted on, which makes a total of 18 boys for this club. Of interest in Tuesday night's meeting was the individual reports of the boys in regards to school standings, deportment, and Sunday school attendance.

Sisters and girl friends of the H-Y club not to be outdone by the H-Y in having a club, have formed their own club known as Tri-Hi and will meet each Monday evening in the upper assembly of the "Y." The girls are now outlining their program and expect to give the H-Y plenty of competition in the matter of accomplishments.

The Young People's church alliance will meet at the Y. M. C. A. for a supper meeting on Jan. 22 at 7:30 o'clock. A meeting was held at the "Y." Tuesday evening in which plans were discussed.

Brainerd will have a local basketball game after all this winter, strange as it may sound. Deerwood is to play the Y. M. C. A. Ramblers here Saturday night.

The Spanish class will meet at the Y. M. C. A. Thursday nights hereafter. This is open to adults only.

COURT SENTENCES ROBERT MOYER

Gets Indeterminate Sentence; Pleaded Guilty to Forgery in Second Degree

CONTEMPT CHARGE DISMISSED

Two Draw Sentences After Pleading
Guilty to Liquor
Charges

Robert Moyer, charged with forgery in the second degree entered a plea of guilty in district court and was sentenced by Judge Bert Fesler to an indeterminate term in the St. Cloud reformatory. Sentence was suspended for 24 hours.

Pleas of guilty were entered by Rene and Henry Boule, brothers, to the charge of transportation of liquor who arraigned before Judge Fesler last evening. Each received a sentence of 60 days in the county jail with a fine of $200 and 60 days additional if the fine is not paid.

A motion for dismissal by defense attorneys in the action of the State vs. Nora Martin charging contempt of court was granted by Judge Fesler last evening.

The contempt charge was alleged by the state to have followed an order of the district court made by Judge W. S. McClenahan on February 28, 1925 which perpetually enjoined and restrained Nora Martin from maintaining a nuisance with reference to the sale possession or handling of liquor anywhere in the state. The defendant had pleaded guilty to the charge of maintaining a nuisance in municipal court at Crosby on December 17, 1928 and by reason of that she was arrested and charged with contempt of court.

County Attorney Arthur J. Sullivan represented the state and Clarence A. Humble, of Crosby and G. S. Swanson, of the firm of Swanson, Swanson, and Swanson, Brainerd appeared as attorneys for the defendant. The defense attorneys claimed that Nora Martin had no knowledge of the action of the court as the notice of injunction had not been served upon her personally. After the evidence was taken the judge granted the motion by the defense attorneys that the case be dismissed.

Following dismissal of the contempt charges, the court heard the case of the State vs. Nora Martin and Herb. Balvanz, abatement proceedings, to secure an order to abate a nuisance in her home. Evidence was taken and on motion action was dismissed against Balvanz. The motion for dismissal of the action against Nora Martin was taken under advisement by the court. The defense claimed that the house of Nora Martin was not a nuisance. The proceeding was brought through the alleged sale of liquor in Crosby to a man named Henry Maki which the defendant denied.

The case of Emma and Fred Forsberg vs. the First National bank of Brainerd was being heard in district court today.

Fatigue May Well Be Called Danger Signal

Industrial research has shown that the fatigued worker's output falls off, quality suffers, and carelessness develops. Accidents are most numerous shortly before quitting time, says Walter Freeman, professor of neurology at George Washington university.

Fatigue is a normal protective mechanism preventing overloading of the human organism, just as a fuse prevents overloading of an electrical circuit. The utterly fatigued person can not continue and must, therefore, stop in spite of himself.

The point of complete exhaustion is seldom reached. At a certain stage the "second wind" develops, and our minds, shutting out disturbing impressions, continue to function at a high level of efficiency and very economically, so that we can go along more or less automatically, depleting our energy reserves slowly.

COURT HOUSE WORK IS THAT OF ART

Commissioners Approve Work of Painting and Redecorating in Building

Crow Wing county's court house, considered one of the most modern and finest public buildings in the northwest, equipped to efficiently take care of the county's official business, stands today in as fine condition as when it was completed in the spring of 1921.

The first signs of wear to the building became evident last summer. With the completion of the interior redecoration of the building last month all signs of wear during the passing years have disappeared.

The painting contract was awarded by the County Board of Commissioners to the firm of Dryberg and Bacon at $6,800. The work as completed has been approved by the board.

The ceilings are of ivory color with the walls cream and tan.

The rotunda of the building is in effect one of the outstanding creations of beauty in the building. It is done in colors of blue, gold, gray, and rose with soft lighting effects, giving it a particular charm.

The court room is done in blue, gold and gray with tapestries in the panels.

The stairways and hallways are stippled and blended gray blue and the rest rooms have been enameled. All radiation in the building has been painted.

BEWARE THE COUGHS THAT FOLLOW FLU!

They May Weaken Your System and Lead to Serious Trouble

You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a medical discovery with two-fold action: it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and inhibits germ growth. Of all known drugs creosote is recognized by high medical authorities as one of the greatest healing agencies for coughs from colds and bronchial irritations. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the inflamed membranes and stop the irritation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and checks the growth of the germs. Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of coughs from colds, bronchitis and minor forms of bronchial irritations, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or flu. Money refunded if not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist. Creomulsion may help you avoid flu, but is not sold as a flu remedy. BOARD APPROVES RECOMMENDATIONS

Detroit Stokers, New Type of Boilers,
Sturdevant Fan, Electric Lift to be Installed

IN NEW HIGH SCHOOL

$100 Transferred From General Fund to School Athletic Fund

Recommendations for the installation of a Sturdevant fan, the installation of Detroit stokers for three boilers, the changing of the boilers from the proposed 322 type to the 421 Kewanee type, the substitution of an electric lift in place of an hydraulic, as made by Mr. Croft or the firm of Croft and Borer, architects for the construction of the new Brainerd high school building, were received and approved by the Brainerd Board of Education at its meeting this week.

The installation of the Sturdevant fan will mean a saving of $540 from other offers made, Mr. Croft explained.

The changing of the boiler types will give the boilers a 150 per cent rating. The changing of the boilers will be considered as an extra to the contract price of M. J. O'Neill as provided in the general conditions of the contract.

In view of the exceptional figure quoted for the electric lift the board decided to accept it in place of the hydraulic lift at a cost not to exceed $450.

The resignation of John Holvick, member of the board was received. Action was deferred to the regular meeting of the board in February. Mr. Holvick who is a new member to the County Board of Commissioners offered his resignation for consideration and out of fairness to the public should it be felt that the holding of one public office was sufficient for one man.

The board set the date of January 19 at 2 p. m. for a meeting at which time the members will view and take action on the selection of face brick for the Washington high school building.

In following claims the Board issued an order for the payment of $13,000 to Ed. Hirt and Son general contractors of the high school and $2,600 to the architects, Croft and Baerner.

The resignation was received and accepted from Miss Dorothy White, Brainerd high school teacher.

Superintendent W. C. Cobb requested that $100 be transferred from the general fund to the athletic fund since the athletic fund which previously to this year was self sustaining was without funds this year because of lack of floor space on which to play home games. The request was granted.

Mr. Cobb's report showed that 22 new pupils had been enrolled in the Brainerd schools making a total enrollment of 2,251 pupils. The average school attendance in all schools for December was 1,911 the lowest point in daily school attendance recorded in a number of years due to the influenza epidemic, the report stated.

COURTNEY GUILTY OF FIRST DEGREE ROBBERY

Jury Returns Verdict at 8:40 P. M. Charge Carries Sentence of 5 to 40 Years

State Scores Conviction in Holdup of First National Bank of Ironton

Courtney Trial Jury
J. S. Schroyer, Jr., Ironton.
Joe Dotzler, Crosby.
Mrs. L. J. Erickson, Brainerd.
Mrs. Joseph Britton, Brainerd.
Mrs. Fred Backen, Brainerd.
Edward Johnson, Pequot.
C. W. Coleman, Deerwood.
Ernest Kleinschmidt.
Ned Bowman, Ideal.
Glen Hite, Emily.
Mrs. Margaret Halvorson, Brainerd.
I. Bjornas, Ironton.

John J. Courtney was found guilty of robbery in the first degree in connection with the holdup of the First National Bank of Ironton on November 9, 1927.

The charge carries a sentence of 5 to 40 years in prison.

The jury returned to the courtroom with the verdict at 8:40 p. m., yesterday after five hours of deliberation.

Present in the courtroom when the verdict was returned were the defendant, his sister, County Attorney Arthur J. Sullivan, Sheriff Claus A. Theorin and his deputies. Courtney was deeply affected by the verdict. His sister broke into tears.

M. F. Kinkead, of St. Paul, attorney for Courtney was notified of the verdict by telephone. He had left for his home soon after the case went to the jury at 3:37 p. m.

Judge Bert Fesler gave no indication as to when sentence would be passed.

Attorneys were of the opinion that on account of Courtney's previous conviction of grand larceny in Ramsey county no leniency would be shown in the sentence.

Courtney through his conviction of grand larceny served a sentence at Stillwater which was commuted after two years and one month.

Judge Fesler gave the sheriff's department instructions to see that no knives were permitted in Courtney's cell in the county jail which might be used by the prisoner in harming himself.

Assistant Attorney General Walter F. Wieland who left for his home in St. Paul soon after the case went to the jury was notified of the verdict last evening. Mr. Wieland conducted the state's case with the assistance of County Attorney Arthur J. Sullivan.

Attorney Lamonte P. Koop, Brainerd, assisted Mr. Kinkead in the defense.

In his closing arguments to the jury yesterday afternoon Attorney M. F. Kinkead delivered a scathing denunciation of P. W. McGarry, accusing the former poolroom proprietor, who was acquitted by a Crow Wing county jury of the charge of complicity in connection with the robbery, of getting as much out of the robbery as any of the bank bandits.

The attorney further accused McGarry of being implicated in the robbery and of stealing $20 from the $500 which he secured from Almon H. Proctor and which he brought to the sheriff's office.

Alice R. Johnson IN RECITAL

Musical Club Board Fosters Piano Concert by Brainerd Girl

TICKET SALE STARTED

Concert to be Given on a Sunday Afternoon at Elks Temple

At a meeting of the Musical club board at the library on Tuesday, it was decided to foster a piano recital by Miss Alice Johnson on February 24. The board felt that one of the Musical club's reasons for being was to foster and encourage local talent. As Miss Johnson is one of Brainerd's most brilliant musical products, who has made good both as a successful teacher of music and as a concert pianist, the Musical club board was very glad to give her, as one of its own members, an opportunity to appear as one of the paid artists on this year's program. However, they felt that this concert could not be included in the membership dues—that each member must buy a separate ticket for it.

As Miss Johnson has such a host of friends both inside and outside of the club, the board members felt that they would be glad to give the price of a concert ticket in proof of that friendship, and to encourage a local artist, knowing that they would receive full value in an exceptional piano recital.

The ticket sale, for this concert, is also in exceptionally capable hands. The chairman is Mrs. E. O. Webb, whose reputation for "putting over" good things, is well known.

It was necessary to put this recital on a Sunday afternoon, as otherwise Miss Johnson would be obliged to disappoint too many of her pupils. As the club is presenting another very talented pianist next Saturday—Stell Andersen—February 24 seemed to be the earliest feasible date. This concert will be held in the same place as all the other Musical club programs—Elks' hall.

Y. M. C. A. NEWS NOTES

The Pathfinders, youngest of the seven boys' clubs of the Y. M. C. A., met for their regular weekly meeting Tuesday evening. Three new members were voted on, which makes a total of 18 boys for this club. Of interest in Tuesday night's meeting was the individual reports of the boys in regards to school standings, deportment, and Sunday school attendance.

Sisters and girl friends of the Hi-Y club not to be outdone by the Hi-Y in having a club, have formed their own club known as Tri-Hi and will meet each Monday evening in the upper assembly of the "Y." The girls are now outlining their program and expect to give the Hi-Y plenty of competition in the matter of accomplishments.

The Young People's church alliance will meet at the Y. M. C. A., for a supper meeting on Jan. 22 at 7:30 o'clock. A meeting was held at the "Y." Tuesday evening in which plans were discussed.

Brainerd will have a local basketball game after all this winter, strange as it may sound. Deerwood is to play the Y. M. C. A. Ramblers here Saturday night.

The Spanish class will meet at the Y. M. C. A. Thursday nights hereafter. This is open to adults only.

COURT SENTENCES ROBERT MOYER

Gets Indeterminate Sentence; Pleads Guilty to Forgery in Second Degree

CONTEMPT CHARGE DISMISSED

Two Draw Sentences After Pleading Guilty to Liquor Charges

Robert Moyer, charged with forgery in the second degree entered a plea of guilty in district court and was sentenced by Judge Bert Fesler to an indeterminate term in the St. Cloud reformatory. Sentence was suspended for 24 hours.

Pleas of guilty were entered by Rene and Henry Boule, brothers, to the charge of transportation of liquor when arraigned before Judge Fesler last evening. Each received a sentence of 60 days in the county jail with a fine of $200 and 60 days additional if the fine is not paid.

A motion for dismissal by defense attorneys in the action of the State vs. Nora Martin charging contempt of court was granted by Judge Fesler last evening.

The contempt charge was alleged by the state to have followed an order of the district court made by Judge W. S. McClenahan on February 28, 1925 which perpetually enjoined and restrained Nora Martin from maintaining a nuisance with reference to the sale possession or handling of liquor anywhere in the state. The defendant had pleaded guilty to the charge of maintaining a nuisance in municipal court at Crosby on December 17, 1928 and by reason of that she was arrested and charged with contempt of court.

County Attorney Arthur J. Sullivan represented the state and Clarence A. Humble, of Crosby and G. S. Swanson, of Brainerd, appeared as attorneys for the defendant. The defense attorneys claimed that Nora Martin had no knowledge of the action of the court as the notice of injunction had not been served upon her personally. After the evidence was taken the judge granted the motion by the defense attorneys that the case be dismissed.

Following dismissal of the contempt charges, the court heard the case of the State vs. Nora Martin and Herb Balvanz, abatement proceedings, to secure an order to abate a nuisance in her home. Evidence was taken and on motion action was dismissed against Balvanz. The motion for dismissal of the action against Nora Martin was taken under advisement by the court. The defense claimed that the house of Nora Martin was not a nuisance. The proceeding was brought through the alleged sale of liquor in Crosby to a man named Henry Maki which the defendant denied.

The case of Emma and Fred Forsberg vs. the First National bank of Brainerd was being heard in district court today.

Fatigue May Well Be Called Danger Signal

Industrial research has shown that the fatigued worker's output falls off, quality suffers, and carelessness develops. Accidents are most numerous shortly before quitting time, says Walter Freeman, professor of neurology at George Washington university.

Fatigue is a normal protective mechanism preventing overloading of the human organism, just as a fuse prevents overloading of an electrical circuit. The utterly fatigued person can not continue and must, therefore, stop in spite of himself.

The point of complete exhaustion is seldom reached. At a certain stage the "second wind" develops, and our minds, shutting out disturbing impressions, continue to function at a high level of efficiency and very economically, so that we can go along more or less automatically, depleting our energy reserves slowly.

COURT HOUSE WORK IS THAT OF ART

Commissioners Approve Work of Painting and Redecorating in Building

Crow Wing county's court house, considered one of the most modern and finest public buildings in the northwest, equipped to efficiently take care of the county's official business, stands today in as fine condition as when it was completed in the spring of 1921.

The first signs of wear to the building became evident last summer. With the completion of the interior redecorating of the building last month all signs of wear during the passing years have disappeared.

The painting contract was awarded by the County Board of Commissioners to the firm of Dryberg and Eason at $6,800. The work as completed has been approved by the board.

The ceilings are of ivory color with the walls cream and tan.

The rotunda of the building is in effect one of the outstanding creations of beauty in the building. It is done in colors of blue, gold, gray, and rose with soft lighting effects, giving it a particular charm.

The court room is done in blue, gold and gray with tapestries in the panels.

The stairways and hallways are stippled and blended gray blue and the rest rooms have been enameled. All radiation in the building has been painted.

Peaks of Desire

by Kane O Day

CHAPTER LX.

ANN stood before Jerry with shining eyes, waiting for him to speak.

"I admit I've been a fool and I've been weak," she said. "Not until I was sure I was losing you did I understand my own heart. Look at me, Jerry."

She was marvelous, he thought, looking at her. The torturing dance she had led him faded into insignificance before her courageous admission. When he had wanted everything she had given him nothing—and now, when apparently he wanted nothing she was willing to give everything. Desperately, she was trying to redeem herself, the frivolities of a heart that had been uncertain. But with Jerry Dunn she needed no redeeming, no forgiveness.

A moment of fire sang in his blood. She who had been so proud was magnificent enough to sweep aside all pride and stand before him bowed and humbled. He was aware of desires without end to possess her, forever.

Yet, while she offered herself he wanted to be certain that the last link in the chain was welded. This time there must be no uncertainty, no prospect of disappointment. In his wild headlong gamble he had staked everything to win or lose completely. With an effort, he held back the swirling joy that was bursting within him.

"You don't realize what you're saying," he declared. "How do you know that all of this is real—that you aren't letting your aversion for Maizie run away with you?"

"The scales have dropped from my eyes," she told him. "I've no aversion for Maizie. When I realized I was losing you I knew how much you meant to me. You mean everything, Jerry."

"Even if I don't love you," she said. "You do love me—you do—unless there was a certain message in your heart. Oh, Jerry, let's not be fools any longer. Let's not ruin our lives. You said I needed a master who could master me but you were wrong. I don't want to be mastered—I want to give myself freely and voluntarily."

For a moment longer his dramatic self, the artist within him, wanted to hold aloof. He wanted the sweet taste of success before he gave himself up to it entirely.

"I said there was no modern equivalent for the kidnapping stunt of the primitive tribesmen," he told her. "But all the same Ann, dear, it took a bit of doing on my part to make you see the light—the truth. Some day, after we're married, I'm going to have a surprise to tell you. There's more guile in me than appears on the surface, and I had to use whatever strategy I could find."

The necessity for conversation no longer existed. Action had passed beyond control of their wills—neither was able nor desired to resist any longer the delicious madness that was upon them. His girdling arms were about her and their burning lips were crushed together as pulses leaped and the fever of great joy burned in their blood. With a tired sigh Ann gave herself up entirely to the first embrace, the first caress of her life that had melted her heart and made it a swimming sea of bliss.

She pressed more tightly to him and for a moment was no longer a rational being. This was love—love.

A moment later she tore herself out of the embrace and they stood apart; their hands clasped, looking at each other and laughing like children.

"When did it begin—when did you first love me?" she asked.

"Oh, from the very beginning—the moment I saw you. I didn't know it was love then, but that's what it was—no mistake." She was crushed once more in his arms.

"You didn't—you couldn't have loved Maizie—?"

"No, of course not. Believe me, dear, when I tell you all about Maizie you won't have anything to worry about. There won't be a single spark of jealousy left. It was all for a purpose."

"I'm not worrying about Maizie, or anybody in the world," she laughed with almost childish happiness. "Just think, Jerry, we don't know where we're going to live or what we're going to do or anything definite. We'll go to New York or we'll stay here—I'll do anything you say."

He stopped her mouth with a kiss.

"Let's forget the details," he said. "People like Steve and Nick and Maizie and things like my job and your folks—they'll all fall into their proper places. They belong to the colorless earth, but tonight, Ann dear, we're among the gods. Give ear, my beautiful—do you know it's possible that we can be married tonight?"

"Can we—oh, can we—?"

"I know where the Deputy Clerk in the License Bureau lives and he'll fix up the papers. And there's a preacher I know, Ann dear—"

Although they were only in a dimly lit room, a moderately furnished portion of a mediocre rooming house, their universe was suddenly bathed in a rosy light which flooded over them and through them. This moment, this instant was their imperishable zenith. . . . Ann was cradled in his arms.

"Hold me tight for a moment longer so I can remember it as long as I live," she whispered softly.

THE END.

Pass-It-On Presents

By L. B. LYONS

THE widow Halderman and her daughter had no money to spend on Christmas shopping but there was one, little Jane McMurray, a cripple, to whom they would like to have given the best that money could buy.

"Well, if we can't buy something for Jane, haven't we something about the house that we could give her?" pleaded Sheila Halderman of her mother?

"I can't see one thing about the house that she needs worse than we do," the mother sadly informed her daughter after she made a trip about the tiny house.

Just then, little Sheila spied something. Clapping her hands, she ran to the window sill and grasped a huge geranium which she herself had grown from a seed which had been sent gratis to her with a flower catalogue. The plant bore four bright red blooms and many buds. "Mother, little Jane needs that worse than we do," she exclaimed.

So it was, that eve, Sheila and her mother took the gay flower to Jane as a Christmas gift. They had spent many minutes over the wrapping and tagging of the little parcel. Some one had sent them a plate of cookies once upon a time, under which they had found a beautiful paper lace doily. This very doily they had used to wrap the unsightly flower pot.

From a last year's calendar, the Haldermans had clipped a huge holly wreath which they had pasted upon cardboard. Then had come the wording. They had finally decided upon: "For some one who needs this worse than I do!"

Little Jane was delighted and hugged the beautiful plant almost to the point of crushing it. She thanked them again and again and they noted tears of joy stream down her cheeks.

A few days later Sheila went down to see Jane again and the first thing she noticed was the absence of the geranium. "Did the flower die, Jane?" she asked, half afraid something had happened to it?

"No dear," Jane answered, "but I read the tag that was on it and I got to thinking there was poor Jimmy Miner up there in Mercy hospital with nothing but that white painted ceiling to look at, so I decided he needed that flower more than I did. I knew you wouldn't care!" And so the Christmas gift from the Haldermans passed from one to another until it had finished blooming.

"To think, mother, we could never have bought gifts for all those people, could we? I am going to plant a lot of flower seeds right away, and get ready for next year's 'pass-it-on' Christmas presents."

Peaks of Desire

CHAPTER LX.

ANN stood before Jerry with shining eyes, waiting for him to speak.

"I admit I've been a fool and I've been weak," she said. "Not until I was sure I was losing you did I understand my own heart. Look at me, Jerry."

She was marvelous, he thought looking at her. The torturing dance she had led him faded into insignificance before her courageous admission. When he had wanted everything she had given him nothing—and now, when apparently he wanted nothing she was willing to give everything. Desperately, she was trying to redeem herself, the frivolities of a heart that had been uncertain. But with Jerry Dunn she needed no redeeming, no forgiveness.

A moment of fire sang in his blood. She who had been so proud was magnificent enough to sweep aside all pride and stand before him bowed and numbed. He was aware of desires without end to possess her, forever.

Yet, while she offered herself he wanted to be certain that the last link in the chain was welded. This time there must be no uncertainty, no prospect of disappointment. In his wild headlong gamble he had staked everything to win or lose completely. With an effort, he held back the swirling joy that was bursting within him. "You don't realize what you're saying," he declared. "How do you know that all of this is real—that you aren't letting your aversion for Maizie run away with you?"

"The scales have dropped from my eyes," she told him. "I've no aversion for Maizie. When I realized I was losing you I knew how much you meant to me. You mean everything, Jerry."

"Even if I don't love you."

"You do love me—you do—you do—I couldn't feel as I do unless there was a certain message in your heart. Oh, Jerry, let's not be fools any longer. Let's not ruin our lives. You said I needed a master who could master me but you were wrong. I don't want to be mastered—I want to give myself freely and voluntarily."

For a moment longer his dramatic self, the artist within him, wanted to hold aloof. He wanted the sweet taste of success before he gave himself up to it entirely. "I said there was no modern equivalent for the kidnapping stunt of the primitive tribesmen," he told her. "But all the same, Ann, dear, it took a bit of doing on my part to make you see the light—the truth. Some day, after we're married, I'm going to have a surprise to tell you. There's more guile in me than appears on the surface, and I had to use whatever strategy I could find."

The necessity for conversation no longer existed. Action had passed beyond control of their wills—neither was able nor desired to resist any longer the delicious madness that was upon them. His girdling arms were about her and their burning lips were crushed together as pulses leaped and the fever of great joy burned in their blood. With a tired sigh Ann gave herself up entirely to the first embrace, the first caress of her life that had melted her heart and made it a swimming sea of bliss. She pressed more tightly to him and for a moment was no longer a rational being. This was love—this was love.

A moment later she tore herself out of the embrace and they stood apart; their hands clasped, looking at each other and laughing like children.
